Supplemental Report

Unit #: CID

A new Liquor Manager application was received for the City owned Jackrabbit Run golf course. Being familiar with the facility, I was aware that the former GM and PGA Professional, Kyle McManus, recently departed for a new position in Chicago. I processed Kyle's liquor manager application just a year ago.

The current application indicates that SaDonna Manfull was named general manager at the course. Manfull indicated she is married, but her husband David signed the non-participating spousal form.

I checked local Spillman files, NCJIS and a paid Law Enforcement only database to check the Manfull's background. I noted they had no outstanding arrest warrants. I found no Nebraska criminal or traffic history on file. SaDonna did self report a speeding ticket from 35 years ago, but it was not on her record. I found nothing concerning in any background information.

I met with SaDonna at the golf course. SaDonna explained that while she has worked extensively in the service industry, in management level positions, she has never held the liquor manager designation previously. We discussed her duties and those responsibilities cover all her staff. We discussed distributors and wholesale options.

With regards to local law enforcement, I stressed that GIPD encourages cooperation regarding any issues involving alcohol consumption, violations by minors, and disturbances. I told Manfull about possible compliance checks. SaDonna advised that the clubhouse facility does have surveillance cameras in place, and she stated they will be cooperative with any law enforcement requests.

I found nothing that would preclude SaDonna Manfull from holding the Liquor Manager designation for the Jackrabbit Run golf course, and recommend approval.
