Subject: drainage ditch design and construction

John – estimate of our fees:

Survey, perform hydraulic analysis to size the channel needed to handle the runoff and prepare grading plan (no concrete liner at this time). We anticipate that some of the excavated material can be used to increase the detention cell berm elevation. This does not include any bidding documents or permits (none anticipated).

Engineering fees – lump sum $ 5,300.

Construction estimate – based on a 4' wide ditch with 3:1 side slopes.

Excavation = 1270 CY @ $13.00 = $16,510.00

Mobilization, remove and reset fence, site prep, seeding, erosion control etc. = $6,400.00

Total = $20,910.00

There will most likely be trees that have to be removed to get the ditch constructed with 3:1 slopes. If we go steeper than that to try to avoid trees, then may have safety issues with kids and need to put fence along the ditch.

This should give you something to start from.

Let me know if you need anything else.

Thanks
